Wesleyan Receives Bequest For Scholarships

Wesleyan recently received from the estate of Mrs. Lucile Thompson Jones of Newnan, a bequest of $10,000 to be used as an endowment fund for scholarships for students from Coweta County at Wesleyan College or Conservatory.

At the request of the Alumnae Office her lawyer, Col. R. O. Jones of Newnan, wrote the following sketch of her for the magazine. Col. Jones is himself the donor of an endowment for scholarships in memory of his wife, Loula (Evans) Jones, A.B. 1893.

Mrs. Lucile Thompson Jones was born in Newnan, Georgia November 9, 1882 and died January 23, 1951. She was the daughter of the late Berryman T. Thompson, a wealthy and prominent business man and banker in the City of Newnan and Susan Jane Longino, a member of a very distinguished family of that name. She was a graduate of Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina.

She was married November 14, 1906 to Garland M. Jones, who at that time resided in Kansas City, Missouri, where he was very prominently engaged in the practice of law. They lived in Kansas City for several years, then returning to Newnan and the remainder of her life was spent here.

She had no brothers or sisters at the time of her death and her only brother, Charles Thompson, died many years ago.

In addition to her gift to Wesleyan, she left substantial gifts to Emory University, Newnan Hospital and the Newnan Carnegie Library, which her brother was instrumental in obtaining for Newnan.

She was a life long active and devoted member of the First Methodist Church of Newnan and very prominent in the civic and social life of the City.

COMMENCEMENT IN 1951

"Alumnae Day" comes on June 2 this year, and is the featured day for alumnae, although members of reunion classes and officers will gather on June 1, Friday, for a dinner at Wesleyan Conservatory.

Miss Mary E. Campbell of New York, the Alumnae Day speaker, is claimed by Wesleyan because her mother, Helena Eastman (Ogden) Campbell, is an alumna, and is the artist who was solely responsible for assembling for her Alma Mater the collection of contemporary paintings and pieces of sculpture of more than 100 items which adorn the Wesleyan buildings.

Miss Mary Campbell herself attended Barnard College and Columbia University, and received her M.A. from Columbia in 1934. She taught physical education until she joined the Condé Nast Publications, Inc. in 1936, first as assistant secretary to Mr. Condé Nast, and then as his executive secretary. Upon his death, she became assistant to the new president.

In 1945, Miss Campbell was elected Secretary of the Corporation. In addition to this position she is now Personnel Director for the company and Job Editor of Glamour Magazine.

Miss Campbell is a member of the National Association of Personnel Directors; Eastern College Personnel Association; National Vocational Guidance Association; New York Adult Education Council; American Association of University Women, and the Fashion Group, Inc., of which she was elected a Governor in 1950.

The Alumnae Association is delighted to announce this charming speaker, who will be introduced by Kay (Bailey) Burts, the first vice-president of the Association, on Alumnae Day.

It is our sincere hope that her mother will come with her for the occasion, and will see for the first time the entire collection of paintings which she began in 1934 for her Alma Mater. Every artist represented was a friend or acquaintance of hers, and every one made the gift to Wesleyan largely because of his or her admiration and respect for Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell.

Dinner Friday, June 1

We wish that the dinner at 6:00 o'clock on Friday evening, held this year at the

Mary E. Campbell
Alumnae Day Speaker

Conservatory, could be open to all alumnae, but it is for reunioners, officers, and club representatives only. (If this is not your reunion year, put it on your books for the year your class returns to the campus, for it is a grand occasion!)

However, the after-dinner session at 7:00 p.m., with Sara Jenkins, A.B. '26, as speaker is open to everyone.

Immediately after the dinner (that is, at 7:00 P.M.), the alumnae will gather in the Conservatory and Sara Jenkins, A.B. '26, author of three recent novels, will speak. (See pages 4 and 6.) All alumnae, whether or not members of reunion classes, are invited to come to the Conservatory for this occasion.

Alumnae Luncheon, June 2

The Alumnae Luncheon, this year to be held on the Rivoli campus at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, June 2, is open to all alumnae, by reservation (which must be made by May 26). A blank for your reservation is in this magazine.

Speaker for Sunday, June 3

Bishop Hazen G. Werner of Columbus, Ohio, whose daughter, Joy, was at Wesleyan in the class of 1947, will give the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, June 3, at Mulberry Street Methodist Church at 11:30 a.m.

Speaker for Graduation Exercises

Dr. Leon P. Smith, Jr., son of the late beloved dean of Wesleyan, Leon P. Smith, Sr., will deliver the graduation address.

He is Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Maryland.

Dr. Smith's connections with Wesleyan are many. His father was associated with the college as professor of chemistry and geology, vice-president, and dean from 1912 until his death in 1930. His great-uncle, Osborne Smith, was once president of Wesleyan. His great-uncle, Cosby W. Smith, was for 36 years professor of mathematics and astronomy at Wesleyan. In 1922 Dr. Smith was married to Dorothy Ware, A.B. (1920, daughter of Nora (Wood) Ware, A.B. '95. Dorothy died in November, 1944. Elinor Smith, president of the graduating class this year, is his daughter.

SHALL WE PUT YOUR NAME IN THE POT?

The reunion classes this year are:

Golden Anniversary Class .....	1901
Silver Anniversary Class .....	1926
1900,	1901,	1902,	1903
1919,	1920,	1921,	1922
1938,	1939,	1940,	1941

Early in the year each member of these classes received a reminder and a card to return telling us whether she hoped to come. Below is a list of those who returned this card.

In this magazine you will find a "Reservation Blank." If you plan to be here for Commencement, please return this blank, whether or not you sent back the card. The card was just to give us some idea of who might come; the blank is your reservation.

Note that luncheon reservation is to be accompanied by your check for a ticket, which will be held for you at the dining room door. There is no charge for any other function.

All alumnae, whether members of reunion classes or not, may reserve space at the luncheon, but this should reach us not later than May 26.

All alumnae are cordially invited to attend the meeting of alumnae on Alumnae Day, June 2, in the Conservatory chapel at 11:00 a.m.

Out-of-town alumnae are invited to stay Friday night in the dormitory, without charge.

Reunioners, national officers, and club representatives are invited to dinner on Friday night, June 1, in the dining room at Wesleyan Conservatory. Reservation for this also should reach us by May 26.

New Painting for the Campbell Collection

A lovely water color, "The Sultan's Turret," by Marshall Howe of New York, is the 121st painting in the Campbell Collection, a group of contemporary paintings and pieces of sculpture assembled for Wesleyan as gifts from the artists through the inspiration of Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell, alumna.

Marshall Howe is by profession a stained-glass designer. He received his art education at the Norwich, Conn. Art School, and later at Pratt Institute in New York. He served his apprenticeship as a stained-glass painter with J. Gordon Guthrie of New York, one of the foremost men in the profession.

Mr. Howe's work is represented in these churches in New York: Church of the Heavenly Rest, St. Bartholomew's, Riverside Church, and Temple Emanuel, and also by others outside of New York.

His recent one-man show in New York, called "Fantasies in Water Color," was very favorably received by critics. It consisted of a series of designs principally of imaginative and ecclesiastical subjects related to stained glass. It is one of these water colors which he has given to Wesleyan.

Marshall Howe is a member of the Norwich Art Association, the Mystic Art Association, and the Knickerbocker Artists of New York. His water colors have been shown in several major exhibitions.

Alumnae Scholarships for Wesleyan Girls

The Alumnae Loyalty Fund is used each year for scholarships for Wesleyan students at the college and conservatory. Listed below you will find the names of 98 students who are this year receiving scholarship aid either from gifts made directly through the Loyalty Fund, or given in memory or in honor of some alumna or alumnae. The A.D. Pi and Phi Mu Scholarships, although given by the Grand Councils of these organizations, number alumnae among their contributors. In addition to these students, many others receive some sort of financial aid from the college.

The Anne Cloud Bass Scholarship, given by this alumna, is held by Janet Baxter of Clinton, Mississippi.

The Dickerson Moore Scholarships, totaling $500, given by Marion (Cook) Murphey in memory of her grandfather, the Rev. Dickerson Moore, went to Martha Biemann of Gainesville, Fla., and to Lillian Gong of Miami, Fla.

The Lucy Candler Leide Scholarship, given by this alumna, was awarded to Doris Birchler of Marietta.

The Octavia Burden Stewart Scholarship, given by this alumna, is held by Phyllis Caverly of Atlanta.

The Phi Delta Phi Scholarship, given by the honor society, was awarded to Betty Gaunt of Miami, daughter of an alumna.

The Linda Anderson Lane Scholarship, given by this alumna, went to Marcia Mallet of Jackson, daughter of an alumna.

The R. L. Bowen Scholarship of $500, given by Lottie (Felder) Bowen and her husband, was awarded to Jane Schofield of Fernandina, Fla.

The Linda McKinney Anderson Scholarship of $200, given in memory of Linda (McKinney) Anderson by Jennie (Loyal) Anderson went to Gary Still of Atlanta.

The Olive DeFoor Brittain Scholarship, given by this alumna, was awarded to Christine Flake of Decatur.

The Lucie Thrasher Wright Scholarship, given by this alumna, went to Marilyn Greene of Miami Springs, Fla.

The Ruth Benedict Watson Scholarship, given by this alumna, was awarded to Lydia Higginbotham of Graymont, Ga.

The Eloise Ainsworth Scholarship, given in memory of this alumna by Hattie (Saussy) Saussy, went to Annette Horne of Savannah.

The Thomas J. Stewart Scholarship, full tuition, given by Octavia (Burden) Stewart, was given to Alice Ann Hamilton of Macon.

The Atlanta Club this year put their funds into an endowed scholarship fund, the income to be used for Atlanta students at Wesleyan.

The Macon Club began this year an endowment for scholarships for Macon students at the college and conservatory.

The Zeta Tau Alpha Scholarship, an endowed scholarship fund given by this organization, brought in sufficient income for a second $100 scholarship, which was awarded to Mary Lowrey of Atlanta, daughter of an alumna. (Mary was this year elected president of the freshman class.)

The Pauline Logan Findlay Scholarships, provided for in the bequest of Margaret McEvoy, has three recipients this year: Emily Evans, Athelyn Wade, and Virginia Moore, all of Macon.

The Loula Evans Jones Scholarships, provided for from an endowment given by Col. R. O. Jones in memory of his wife, went to Nancy Connell and Jackie Spradlin of Newnan.

The Wimberly-Mathews-Rhodes Endowed Scholarship Fund, given by the late Mary (Mathews) Rhodes, made possible a scholarship for Betty Jane Percy of Everglades, Fla.

The Studstill Endowed Scholarship Fund, given in memory of Beth (Studstill) Nelson by her parents, provided scholarships for Jeannice Hammond of West Palm Beach, Irma Rigby of Naples, Fla., Joan Arlt of Sarasota, Fla., and Betty Bate of Winter Park, Fla.

The Hinman Endowed Scholarship Fund, bequeathed to Wesleyan by the late Florence (Hand) Hinman of the class of '95, provided scholarships for Elizabeth Barber of Orlando, Fla., Jerry Dixon of College Park (daughter of an alumna), Lillian Gong of Miami, Fla., Joann Hesser of Lakeland, Fla.; Celeste Ann Walker of Augusta; Marilyn Bennett of Spartanburg, S. C.

The Alpha Delta Pi Scholarship, given each year by the Grand Council of A.D.Pi, was awarded to Jane Wootton of Savannah, editor-in-chief of the college newspaper.

The Phi Mu Scholarships, given each year by the Phi Mu Grand Council, went to: Elinor Smith of College Park, Md. (daughter of an alumna, and president of the senior class); and Elizabeth Barber of Orlando, Fla.

The Hinkle Scholarships, provided for through the Laura Ellen Butts Hinkle Memorial Bequests of Eugene Hinkle of Connecticut, is given each year to juniors or seniors whose scholastic records are outstanding. This year these were given to: Mary Bird Horner, Thomaston; Mary Lewis, Quitman; Betty Neylans, Macon; Elinor Smith, College Park, Md.; Nancy Wyatt, Miami, Fla.; Mary Eva Bryan, Savannah Beach; Doranne Jennings, Powder Springs (daughter of an alumna); Betty Jean Williams, Macon; Marella Mitchell, Austell; Mary Gene Baldwin, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Marjorie Gray, Jacksonville, Fla.; Billie Jones, Hickory, N. C.; Anne McKay, Clearwater, Fla. (fourth generation student); Leon Monburg, Monmouth, Ill.; Artemesia Dennis, Augusta; Ruth Paroz, New York City; Carolyn Hopkins, Fitzgerald; Martha Walker, Summerville; Charlotte Bullard, Sylvester; Virginia Claire Richardson, Albany

The Chenery Scholarships, provided for by an endowment given by the late Dr. William E. Chenery and his wife, Marion (Luse) Chenery, alumna, made possible scholarships for the following students of music: Jo Ann Adams, Rome; Dixie (Alvarez) Patton of Jacksonville, Fla. (president of the freshman class at the conservatory); Frances Cumnock, Charlotte, N. C.; Artemesia Dennis, Augusta; Mary Ann Fitzgerald, Henderson, Ky.; Kathleen Harper, Thomasville; Annette Horne, Savannah; David Knowles, Atlanta; Sara Louise Lawhorn, LaGrange; Evelyn LeRoy, Tignall; Helen McLeroy, Savannah; Nancy Lou Marks, Jacksonville, Fla.; Claire Michaels, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Peggy Smith, Gray; Margaret Smith, Cordele; Jeannette Wilson, Thomasville; and Mary Bascom Cook, Highlands, N. C.

In addition to the above named scholarships, the general Alumnae Loyalty Fund provided scholarships for the following students: Ann Aiken, Atlanta; Barbara Alrich, Bradenton, Fla.; Loida Arias, Miami, Fla.; Marilyn Bennett, Spartanburg, S. C.; Mary Brock, Farmington, N. C.; Bernice Cook, Chickamauga; Bonnie Jo Gardiner, Monroe; Elaine Halley, Camilla; Sara Elizabeth Hammond, Jackson; Betty Henderson, Monticello (daughter of an alumna); Joyce Hollingsworth, Macon; Caroline Hopkins, Fitzgerald; Lucia Hutchinson, Raleigh, N. C.; Kathryn Jones, Atlanta; Marjorie McCarty, Jackson; Jean Malone, Albany; Hilda Mattox, Macon; Mary Alice Mohr, Lakeland, Fla.;

In Nearly Everybody's Life There Has Been At Least One Really Outstanding Teacher

(This article by Celestine Sibley appeared recently in an Atlanta news-paper, and we want to share it with you. Anita Wagner, A.B. '21, is Mrs. Fred Grimes of 65 LaFayette St., Mobile, Ala., and is still teaching in Murphy High School.)

In everybody's life there must be at least one outstanding teacher who exerts a profound influence for good or bad. Ever since we have had children in school we have looked searchingly at the new crop of teachers every Sep-tember, asking silently, "Are you the one? Are you the one who'll make them what they are to become? Are you the one whose words they will remember, whose dreams they will try to live up to?"

Parents probably never know which teacher kindled the spark, if any. Ac-tually time itself may have the only an-swer.

Anita Wagner, a Swainsboro girl who wanted to work for the Macon Telegraph when she graduated from Wesleyan but was pushed into the teaching profession because her mother didn't think newspa-pering was quite "nice," was the teacher who exerted the greatest influence on us. She thought there was no higher calling than that of the newspaper reporter and when we were at the age of vacillating between an ambition to be either an actress or a great criminal lawyer or a lady lifeguard she steered us into jour-nalism. She got us a Saturday job on the daily newspaper and she watched over us like a mother hen, scolding and encouraging and inspiring.

We hadn't seen her since high school days until she called up the other day. She and her husband were at the Henry Grady Hotel. We were to meet them for a cup of coffee.

"I don't know if I'll recognize you," she said over the phone, and we realized with horror that it had been 20 years and three children and a husband ago since we saw her. Maybe she wouldn't weather the shock — and we doubted that we would.

Then we saw her sitting in the booth in the coffee shop— small and deceptively gentle-looking. (We remembered well her crackling impatience with laziness and mediocrity.) She looked exactly the same except for a slender shaft of silver where her dark auburn hair curled back from her face. She smiled the same and before we knew it we were talking to her the same, telling her about the 20 years as if they were a single Saturday on the hometown newspaper, rattling on about the problems and bewilderments and sat-isfactions of a job she had propelled us into.

She listened and smiled and asked an occasional question. "You still love it?" she said at last.

The Best Gift

"Oh, yes!" we said automatically, and then stopped. How long had it been since we spoke of our job in terms of "love"? To love your job sounds young and naive. When you're older you speak of being tired and disillusioned, you mention the money you're not making and things you ha-ven't accomplished. But love . . . and then we knew she had given us the best thing a teacher can ever give a child and we had no right to deny it—work that after 20 years we still respect and love.

When we left her we remembered vaguely that we wished we looked young-er and smarter. Her only comment, which could have been taken any number of ways, somehow satisfied us. She said, "Well, you've grown."

A short time later a Wesleyan student from Miami, Margot Shapiro, one of Sara's students in high school, brought to the office a clipping from the Miami News Magazine section about Sara. The article has four pictures of the author, two with Sara's characteristic grin, one at work in her "studio," one with her mother, the widow of one of the six "preacher broth-ers" who have furnished material for all of Sara's books so far.

The first of her books, "We Gather To-gether," was about the summer reunions of a family much like her own, and it went through several editions. The sec-ond, "The Lost Lamp," portraying a week of "moving time at the parsonage," was a Family Book Club selection and is now being brought out as a Talking Book by the National Foundation for the Blind. The third, written while she was spending a sabbatical year in Mexico, is dedicated to four friends, all interested in writing, who have met together over a period of years for mutual criticism and suggestions.

Her next book, Sarah says, to be a Florida novel, the story of a school teach-er in the phosphate mining section of Polk County.

She teaches a full-time schedule in Edison High School in Miami, and also has a night class in creative writing at Technical High. Her writing habits have of necessity, therefore, been quite unusual, and this year for the first time in her life she has a studio of her own. Heretofore she has written between classes, on buses, in restaurants, anywhere.

"And it doesn't bother me," she says, "if I'm interrupted in the middle of a sentence and have to go back a finish it two days later. I guess I'm just not tem-peramental."

She loves teaching, and if her ex-stu-dent at Wesleyan now is a fair sample, her students love her!

News of Former Faculty Members

Laura Voelkel, now teaching at Mary Washington College, has bought a home on the Potomac for week-end trips, and is planning a tour to Rome this summer.

Mr. J. W. W. Daniel is a frequent visi-tor to the Wesleyan campus, coming for special chapel programs, or just to chat with his old friends. A recent visit to Wesleyan was to hear Dr. William F. Quillian, trustee and former president of the college, speak at chapel during Holy Week, when he was conducting a series of services at Mulberry Street Methodist Church.

Sara Jenkins Writes Her Third Novel

In the early spring the Wesleyan Alum-nae Office received from the Thomas Y. Crowell the third novel by Sara Jenkins, A.B. '26, "The Brand New Parson," the story of a young theological school gradu-ate's struggle about 1900 to develop a new church in a small Southern town-ship.

A Wesleyanne Heads the Congressional Club

When Mary Lou (Martin) Davis of the Wesleyan class of 1928, wife of Congressman James C. Davis of Georgia's Fifth District, was elected president of the historical old Congressional Club in Washington, alumnae from all over the nation began sending clippings to the Alumnae Office about her. One of them said:

"Mrs. Davis is that merry anomaly of creatures who can say all the right things, make all the gracious gestures, play clubwoman and even, on occasions, granddame, and all the while view the proceedings with something like the fond amusement of a Helen Hokinson."

You might say, then, that this account of her life in Washington, which we asked her to write for us in her inimitable way, is in response to the demands of her "public." We loved it! See if you don't.

I am delighted and flattered that many of my friends have sent you clippings concerning my "comings and goings" to Washington. I am overwhelmed that you think anything concerning me would be interesting grist for the Alumnae Magazine.

To simmer my activities down to something fairly readable is a delightful assignment. Six months of each year I spend on the banks of the Potomac. Within those six months I trip along doing the various fantastic things other Congressional wives are doing. That is, the ones who aren't on the deep-freeze lists or the Pastel Mink Coat inner circle!

The other six months of the year, I spend at my country home in Georgia, which is 12 miles from Atlanta, 3 miles from Stone Mountain and zero miles from Paradise.

During my stay at home, I mix up lots of visiting with family and friends, interlaced with speaking engagements and Political Campaigns. As you know, we hardly get through running for office before it's time to begin all over again. We never seem to get to a period, or even a semi-colon, because the term of office for members of the House is only two years. However, this arrangement is healthier for the country, and stimulating for us. Once a person gets the fancy idea that he is a permanent fixture under the Capitol Dome, then he is not as alert as a member of Congress should be.

Don't get any ideas now, that I figure I am in Congress. I am only related to it by marriage, but Jim's interests are mine, and I find no possible way of separating "joint interests." I like people, and I enjoy the challenge of being a part of the Government of the People, by the People, and for the People.

I try to understand all legislation as it grinds slowly along, all of which is passed by the House and Senate Resolution affects every American citizen, and only by understanding it, and thinking for myself, am I a good citizen and voter.

Mary Lou (Martin) Davis, 1928

Deliver me from the person who depends entirely upon the television, radio, and newspaper to formulate his opinions. Most of the time, since I've been here, I have kept up with the Committee hearings on the Hill. I find the columnist who slant the reports as dangerous as the Pinks and Fellow Travellers, and sometimes, I think they are perhaps akin.

On the distaff side, however, the wives of Congress have a very gay time. As Washington cave dwellers say, the "season is always star-studded."

There is always something interesting to do, if one has enough strength and energy to do it. And now, with Gayelord Houser's new book telling us to eat yogurt and black strap, we shall probably have that jet-propelled force.

The most important and most interesting thing to do is sight-seeing with constituents. There are so many "musts" around Washington. Those of us from below the Mason-Dixon Line naturally prefer Arlington's Lee Mansion to the Lincoln Memorial. We'd rather look at George Washington's statue than the one erected to Ulysses Grant, although we see them all as we conduct our tours around town. Most of us, have Smithsonian feet with corns and bunions. We know where to see a replica of Freedom's Helmet, Admiral Byrd's Compass, Dolly Madison's Snuff Box, and Pharoah's Mummy, not to mention the Rosetta Stone, Powhatan's Peace Pipe, Hitler's Marriage License, and Mrs. Roosevelt's Suitcase. It we take sight-seeing seriously, we soon learn how to mentally card catalog all of the breath-taking spectacles of bygone days. Of course, the success of any well planned sight-seeing tour depends entirely upon the sex and age of each person wanting such a trip. I find that women prefer to see the display of White House China, the First Ladies' Inaugural Dresses, and the National Art Gallery. Teen-agers like nothing better than climbing to the Capitol's Dome and into Freedom's finger tips as she clutches the sky. In their weaker moments they prefer walking up 939 steps to the top of the Washington monument.

School Boy Patrols wouldn't give five cents to see the China display, but how they go for a tour of the F.B.I. with emphasis upon the guns which killed Baby Face Nelson and Daring Dillinger.

Business men stay close to the House and Senate Gallery with a chance to meet Members of Congress, and express their opinions of high taxes and Government expenditures. (I like that myself.)

So when all of this isn't going on, the wives spend quite some time at the Congressional Club. This club was organized on May 30th, 1908. It has the distinction of being the only club whose charter was granted by an act of Congress.

Last week, we celebrated the Club's 43rd birthday. There have been 18 Presidents who have preceded me to this office. I was elected in January and will remain the President until January, 1952. Every two years in selecting a President, we alternate between the Republican and Democratic parties. Georgia has never before had a President and I felt doubly honored to be chosen to become it in so short a time. This is the beginning of our third term, so you see my stay in Washington has been comparatively short. I am still sitting down below the salt and pepper! Seniority and Protocol set the pace and each luncheon place!

At the Congressional Club, we have no middle aisle which separates us by party affiliation. We are a congenial group of women, and never discuss activities or politics on the Hill. There are 500 members. The purpose of the Club is to promote social intercourse and to give the wives of Congress a place to meet. If she joins, she isn't confronted with that loneliness of leaving friends and home behind back in Bingville, U. S. A.

We are not supported by tax money or Government appropriations. Not one penny of Federal funds or R. F. C. loans keep us out of the red. During the week we do Red Cross work and Home Hospitality Service to the boys in uniform. We mix into this weekly schedule classes in Public Speaking, French, Millinery, Spanish, and Art. Every Friday there is an interesting program followed by tea. At these programs we have this year had Kathleen Norris, General Lewis B. Hershey, Lady Nancy Astor, His Excellency Mr. Ambassador Politis of Greece, and Madame Bonnet.

The Ambassador of Greece is a photogenic bachelor, loves bridge, collects Chinese objects of art, plays no golf, and says goodbye by kissing a lady's hand. How do I know? He kissed mine!

Red carpet entertaining goes on all along with the regular activities. The reception to the President and Mrs. Truman is over. The tea honoring the Vice-President and Mrs. Barkley is another hurdle we've jumped.

Coming up in early April at the Statel will be the Annual Breakfast honoring Mrs. Truman with Coca-Cola sending Morton Downey to entertain us.

Also on the agenda is a tea honoring the Speaker, Honorable Sam Rayburn.

At all of these official red carpet affairs, I stand at the head of the receiving line and introduce hundreds of people to the honor guest. My success at this, if any, is due to the fact that I know people's names. I learned long ago at Wesleyan where each girl lived, and her home town, and this has followed me into Congressional Club activities. People's names are far more important to them than my own, so I have learned to call them by name and keep the line moving along.

Today I was invited to Mrs. Owen Brewster's luncheon. There were 18 people present, and I was the only Democrat. The luncheon was given in honor of Madame Erkin, wife of the Turkish Ambassador. Among the group was Mrs. Morris Cafritz. Mrs. Cafritz was born in Budapest but has lived in Washington for some time. When Mrs. Perle Mesta fell heir to the number one hostess throne following the death of Mrs. Hope Diamond McLean, Mrs. Cafritz was next in line. And now, that "call me Madame Perle" is away on her Minister Mission, Mrs. Cafritz inherited the title. Along with the title goes the honor of picking up the check at many entertainments of splendor. She is attractive, interesting, chic, and well loaded. Should there be anything else to be said of her, the superlatives could easily be bought, and would probably fit as well.

Just recently I lunched at the British Embassy as a guest of Lady Franks. Unaccustomed as I am to roughing it at this Massachusetts Avenue address, I was bug-eyed!

I found Lady Franks very friendly and hospitable. She is eager to make everyone feel at home, and fully capable of doing so. "Taxation without Representation" was not discussed nor my admiration for the D.A.R. I felt the eyes of King George upon me, and I could almost feel the hot breath of Cornwallis blowing down my neck as he surrendered at Yorktown. I tried to concentrate upon the luncheon subject of Feminine Fashions, Food, and Froth.

This Year's Glee Club Tour the Best Ever!

From all accounts, the 1951 tour of the Wesleyan Glee Club, under the direction of Vladimir Zorin, was an all-time high in enjoyment and good will, both from the viewpoint of the club and that of their audiences!

During the week of March 4-11, the 60-voice chorus sang concerts for 4,700 persons, and appeared in high schools before 3,700 students. They sang in Calhoun, Augusta, Camp Gordon, and Washington, Georgia; in Oak Ridge and Knoxville, Tennessee, and in Anderson and Greenville, South Carolina.

The Club traveled by bus, accompanied by Miss Iva Gibson of the Rivoli campus and Mrs. Jeannette Wallace Oliphant of the Conservatory as chaperones; Mr. Bertram Kelso of the Conservatory faculty as soloist, and Mr. Tigner E. Thrasher, Director of the Wesleyan Foundation, as coordinator of the tour.

They stayed, for the most part, in homes on their tour, and in almost every instance the alumnae of Wesleyan made all arrangements for the performances, for housing the members of the club, and for planning their entertainment.

"I have never known such wholehearted cooperation from any group as we had from the alumnae of the college," said Mr. Thrasher on his return. (Which is, you may be sure, good news to your Alumnae Director!)

The alumnae, for their part, have been writing most enthusiastic letters to the college ever since, praising the calibre of the club, the charming personality of the girls, and their own enjoyment of this duty for the college. The girls, tired after an unusually strenuous tour (on some days they sang as many as five times) declare that they were royally entertained, and never had as much fun in their lives!

Though my heart with rapture thrills, I didn't unfurl old Glory under the Union Jack. I tried to benedict my thoughts of the Marshall Plan and socialistic England.

This letter could go on as irresponsibly as a babbling brook, but somewhere there must be a stopping place. Perhaps some day I shall simmer my essays of Washington down to book size under the name of "Drop in the Bucket." So far, I write a weekly column to the Decatur Paper. My readers, bless them, tell me that they read the stuff, which is what it is.

However, with all I am enjoying doing here, I don't have time to think. One day I am going to join that new group just organized called the "Setting, Staring, and Rocking Club," and when I do, I shall relive these busy moments which I am now letting sift through my memory as I hurry off again to see Baby Face Nelson's tommy gun.

One of the best features of the tour, it seems to us here on the campus, was the opportunity it gave for the students today and the alumnae of other college years to meet and become friends.

State Department Translates Story By Wesleyan Alumna

The story of Christ Church in Savannah, written by Margaret Godley, A.B. '34, which appeared in Holland's Magazine in January, is being translated by the State Department in Washington and distributed in continental Europe, Latin America, the Middle East, the Far East and Africa, it was learned recently.

Margaret is reference and publicity assistant in the library in Savannah, is co-author of several booklets on Savannah, and contributor to numerous magazines. Her story on Christ Church is an account of this famous episcopal church from the time of its founding. John Wesley, founder of Methodism, was its first minister, and his father, the Rev. Samuel W. Wesley, gave the silver communion service in 1734. Paul Revere of American Revolutionary fame, made its bell.

Nominee For Alumnae Trustee

By Linda (Anderson) Lane, A.B. '19

The nominee for Alumnae Trustee to succeed Alice (Burden) Domingos, whose three-year term of office expires this year, is Grace (Laramore) Hightower, A.B., B.M. 1920, of Thomaston.

Grace is the wife of Julian Hightower, Executive Vice-President of one of the most important and successful textile businesses in the nation.

They have one child, Anne, who is Mrs. Will B. Plowden of Griffin. Grace is the proud grandmother of two little granddaughters, Julia and Laura, and has reacted to grandmotherhood just as we all have; you wouldn't recognize any of us!

The Hightowers have just recently completed the building of a beautiful new home. It is on a wooded estate of rolling hills, with a lake just below the home site. Grace has personally supervised every step of the building process, and has demonstrated her exquisite taste in every detail. She and Julian are gracious with their hospitality. It is a joy to be in their home!

The choice of Grace for Alumnae Trustee is an excellent one. All through the years she has shown her loyalty to her Alma Mater by responding generously whenever she was needed. She and her husband have made generous contributions in campaign times. Together with Julian's brothers, they "bought back" a large parlor in the Persons Building in memory of their mother.

Grace has come often to the Alumnae occasions at the college, both at Commencement and at other important times. Several times she has sung on programs when called upon by the Alumnae Association. Her glorious contralto voice was trained at the Conservatory and also in New York, where she studied with Serge Klibansky and Frank LaForge.

She sings in the Methodist Church choir in Thomaston. Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore, whose husband was pastor in Thomaston for several years, described her singing one Easter morning in these words, "She sang like an angel!"

In 1949 Grace assumed the obligation of financing the musical education of a Wesleyan graduate who showed promise as a singer, and she has kept this up for two years, sending a fund to Wesleyan for the girl, to be administered by the college.

The Executive Committee feels that Grace will make a valuable alumnae representative on the Wesleyan Board of Trustees, not only because of her loyalty in the past, but because she is a vital, positive personality who will contribute a great deal to the important decisions of the Board. The fact that she holds degrees from both branches of Wesleyan show her understanding interest in both the liberal arts and fine arts fields.

Her many friends are delighted to see her so honored, and to know that Wesleyan will have the benefit of her service in the capacity of Alumnae Trustee.

Gifts to the College

Making its appearance this spring on party tables at Wesleyan is a lovely silver compote ("Prelude" pattern), the gift of Alberto (Denton) Marshall, B.M. '14, and her husband, Andrew S. Marshall of Atlanta.

Alumnae gifts, in fact, add much to the beauty of festive occasions at college and conservatory. A silver service, the gift of Anne (Bates) Haden, graces many tea tables. Another silver service was given to the college by the class of 1930. On occasions when punch bowls are used, there are two lovely ones, one formerly owned by Nettie (Dunlap) Wortham and purchased from her estate for Wesleyan by the late Linda (McKinney) Anderson; the other formerly used by Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, A.B. '83, in her lovely home, was placed at the conservatory by her. The silver punch ladles were given by the classes of 1931 and 1949, the conservatory seniors of 1949 giving a ladle to the Conservatory, and the Rivoli seniors one to the liberal arts campus. The Conservatory seniors of 1950 gave after-dinner coffee spoons.

The handsome point de Venice and cut-work linen banquet cloths which are used for very special occasions were among Nettie (Dunlap) Wortham's effects.

Miss Ruby Lafferty, assistant professor of Latin and history of art, gave to Wesleyan as a souvenir of her trip to Lisbon, Portugal, a lovely pottery vase. Miss Lafferty was one of the Wesleyan teachers awarded a Carnegie grant for study last summer.

New Type of Germ Is Discovered By Wesleyan Alumna

To Marjorie Standifer, A.B. '40, goes the honor of discovering a new type of food poisoning germ which has never been isolated before. It has been named "Salmonella Albany" because it was in the Albany branch of the State Laboratory that it was discovered.

F. H. Stubbs, director of the laboratory, says that there are many types of the salmonella family of food poisoning germs, but that none of these fit in with the specimen which Marjorie Standifer examined under her microscope. When it was sent on to Dr. P. R. Edwards, director of laboratories in Atlanta, he advised that after checking with laboratories all over the world, he finds that this type has never before been isolated.

Marjorie has been with the Albany laboratory for nine years. She is the daughter of Reba (Moore) Standifer, '12, and Dr. J. G. Standifer of Blakely, and is the sister of Sadie (Standifer) Davis, A.B. '38.

WHOSE CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN?

(Since this page was initiated as part of the Alumnae Magazine, we have used pictures of 106 alumnae children and grandchildren. If yours were not among them, won't you send us a snapshot? So far, we have not had more than we could use for any one issue. If there should be too many, we promise to use them as soon as possible.)

yer's (1936), DeForest, Jr.; Lilly (Lake) Stephenson's (1943), Stephen Lake (in the arms of his daddy).

Second row: Margaret (Munroe) Thrower's (1935); Bebbie, Patricia, Laura, and Randolph, Jr. (with Santa Claus thrown in extra).

Third row: Peggy (Worley) Studwell's (1946), Cherie and Tommy.

Bottom row: Dorothy (DuPuis) Mackin's (1938) Donnelle and Derrill; Evelyn (Sewell) Rineer's (1934), Diana Elizabeth.

Wesleyan Serves the Community

When the Macon Chamber of Commerce lists the city's assets for prospective home-builders, this is one of the chief ones: Macon is a city of colleges, with two church-related colleges in her midst.

Recently, we made a study of what part the faculty and staff of Wesleyan College and Conservatory take in the religious life of the community, and we believe it will make you very proud to know that it is quite a large part.

The conservatory share, of course, is largely musical. Thirteen of the faculty are active in church music. Miss Henrietta Collings is accompanist at St. Paul's Episcopal and at the Lutheran Church. Mr. Leon Culpepper is a member of the choir at Cherokee Heights Baptist. Mr. Roy Domingos is a member of the choir at Christ Episcopal, and supplies as organist when needed. Miss Marcia Hathaway is organist and choir director at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Mr. Herbert Herrington is organist and choir director at St. Paul's Episcopal and at the Temple Beth Israel. Mrs. Doris O. Jelks is organist and director of choirs at Christ Episcopal. Mr. Bertram Kelso is cantor at Temple Beth Israel, and is choir director at St. George's Episcopal Church in Griffin.

Mr. Wilbur Rowand is organist and choir director at the First Presbyterian. Mr. Albert Kirkpatrick is choir director at the First Christian. Mr. Leonard Norman is minister of music at Vineville Baptist. Miss Evelyn Smith is on leave of absence as organist at Mulberry Street Methodist, and Miss Margaret Smith, a Wesleyan student, is supplying in this position. Mrs. Rae Stubbs Ingley is director of choirs at Mulberry.

Mr. Joseph Maerz and Miss Beatrice Horsbrugh assist with music at various churches requesting their help, the former recently at the First Presbyterian, Vineville Baptist, and Mulberry Methodist; the latter recently at St. Paul's, Christ Church, and Temple Beth Israel.

Miss Iva Gibson, dean of women on the liberal arts campus, is a member of Mulberry Street Methodist choir. Students from both campuses sing in church choirs throughout the city.

As teachers and speakers as well as musicians, faculty and staff take an active part in religious affairs in Macon. President Silas Johnson fills various pulpits from time to time throughout the South and elsewhere. Dean Samuel L. Akers serves Martha Bowman Methodist Church as its pastor, preaching on the first and third Sundays there, and at other times in various other churches. He has spoken on "Comparative Religion" to the Macon History Club and to the Mulberry WSCS.

Mr. Emmett Johnson of the department of religion is a member of the South Georgia Conference of the Methodist Church (as are Dr. Johnson and Dr. Akers), and is chairman of the Georgia-Florida Personnel Committee of the General Board of Missions to screen candidates for home and foreign mission work. He has filled many speaking engagements in various districts, and his students have cooperated in community surveys.

Miss Katherine Johnson has filled nearly every place in church except that of janitor and member of the choir! She has taught or talked in every church school in Macon, has talked to adults, young people, teen-agers. She has spoken to Women's Societies in all the churches, conducted study courses. She is now teaching a young married women's circle in the WSCS. In addition, she has itinerated during the last two years to numerous Methodist, Baptist, and Presbyterian churches in South Georgia. Her years as a missionary in Japan give a special flavor to her talks on this country.

A number of the faculty and staff are teachers in church schools: Mr. Guy Sarvis has an adult class at Mulberry; Miss Virginia Carlton a class of young adults at Vineville Baptist and once a month a class at Martha Bowman; Miss Iva Gibson a class of young people at Mulberry; Miss Mildred Hudgins, a class of young people at Mulberry; Miss Isabella Thoburn classes at Martha Bowman and at First Baptist; Miss Eunice Thomson, a class in the Intermediate Department at Mulberry; Miss Alice Domingos a class in the Primary Department at Vineville Methodist. Mrs. Luther Harman is supply teacher for the Rosser Bible Class at Mulberry.

During the month of March Mr. Carl Bennett, who is a deacon at First Baptist Church, taught a Sunday School series, "If God Is Our Father" at Cherokee Heights Methodist, a series which he wrote for an issue of the Methodist "Adult Teacher." Other Wesleyan teachers filled in for him with his class at the First Baptist Church. Mr. Bennett is frequently a discussion leader for student conferences of Baptist and Methodist young people, Bible study groups, Negro church conferences.

Miss Thoburn has spoken on missions in India (where she spent some years herself as a missionary) to various church groups throughout the city.

Mrs. Florence Sherriff is chairman of a committee on Missionary Education at Mulberry Methodist for the third consecutive year. In March she put on a series of talks and discussions for the study of the Near East for jurisdictional credit. She is a frequent speaker on topics related to the United Nations, and to the Far East, particularly China, where she spent some years.

Mrs. Gulnar Bosch has done a series of lectures this spring for adult Bible study classes on "Religious Art," and "Islamic Culture" at Christ Episcopal, Forsyth Methodist, Mulberry and Vineville Methodist Churches.

Mr. Sarvis has supplied in the pulpit at First Christian, and has addressed men's groups and student groups at various churches. Miss Iva Gibson taught a WSCS group at Mulberry for a year, and was guest speaker at Vineville Baptist Church School.

Church bookkeeping departments in Macon find Wesleyan officials helpful, too. Until she came to Wesleyan several years ago Miss Frances Strohecker was treasurer of Mulberry Street Methodist, and has helped out since in emergencies there from time to time. Miss Susie Fulwood is secretary-treasurer of the Church of the Nazarene. Miss Banks Armand, although she retired this year from her duties in the Alumnae Office, is still treasurer of Martha Bowman Church.

Mr. Andrew D. Ray Dies

Wesleyan girls of all the years between 1911 and 1942, during which time he served as superintendent of buildings and grounds, will be grieved to learn of the death of Mr. Andrew Dowd Ray on February 22 in Macon.

Mr. Ray's familiar figure on the campus, his careful attention to the details of keeping the campus in order, his cooperation with the students in building stage scenery for their plays, and in building something artistic out of scraps for their special occasions, his genuine interest in all of their plans and projects, will long be remembered. In 1942 he became too ill to continue his work, and for the last five years has been almost entirely helpless.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Mack and Bert, and three daughters, Thelma (who received the A.B. degree from Wesleyan in 1929 and now has a secretarial position in Chicago); Lois (now Mrs. Rasar); and Sara (now Mrs. Willoughby Livingston of Macon), who received the A.B. degree at Wesleyan in 1938), and several grandchildren.

He was a member of Centenary Methodist Church.

THE LOYALTY FUND TO DATE

The February issue of the alumnae magazine carried a list of 216 alumnae who contributed to the Loyalty Fund between September 1, 1950 (when the fiscal year began) and January 15 (when the magazine went to press). These alumnae gave a total of $2,284.34.

Below is given the list of alumnae who have contributed since that time and the day this issue went to the printer (April 2, 1951). The total number of contributors is now 376, and the total amount $3,787.76.

During February there went out from alumnae office to all who had contributed last year, but had not so far this year, a little string of verses as a reminder (perfectly terrible verses, to the effect that every time the postman came we looked up in the hope that it was your gift coming in for the Loyalty Fund). Many of the contributions listed below came in answer to that. And we also received (together with a check for the Fund) a very clever couplet from Betty (Davenport) Plant of the class of 1917 as follows:

"Women not immune to verses Should wear padlocks on their purses!"

In April there went out a general mailing to all alumnae (except those who have already contributed), another reminder, carrying a return envelope for a check to be mailed to the Alumnae Office.

It looks as though we're saying that you who have not yet given are awfully late, which isn't so at all! You have yet some time, but it is like this: if we don't start early we don't have time to get the follow-up mailings out, and if you put aside the envelope with the intention of sending your gift before long, you just might forget it altogether! And we must—we simply must do better than 11 per cent of the alumnae body giving anything at all (which was our record last year). If you cannot give much, please do not let that keep you from giving anything at all!

Gifts arriving after April 2 will be listed in the Summer Magazine.

CLUB NOTES

AUGUSTA ALUMNAE CLUB

The January meeting of the Augusta Alumnae Club met at the home of Eugenia Toole, B.M. '48, with Elizabeth Jones, A.B. '29, presiding.

Eloise (Guyton) Clark, '05, gave a brief spiritual message, followed by prayer.

Eugenia Toole gave a group of piano selections in her family's music room, two classical and one modern solos. A morning coffee and social hour followed the program and business meeting.

Members present were: Sarah (Bowden) Allgood, '95; Eugenia (Hutto) Howard, '30; Rosaline Gilmore, '48; Elizabeth Jones, '29; Helen (Ouzts) Dupree, '37; Marjorie Stewart, '43; Lilly (Lake) Stephenson, '43; Eugenia Toole, '49; and Eloise (Guyton) Clark, '05.

Sarah (Bowden) Allgood brought a picture of a mock wedding held during her college days in the 1890's as an after-dinner entertainment to show the group.

When the Wesleyan Glee Club sang at Camp Gordon, the Alumnae Club of Augusta entertained them with a tea in that city.

COLUMBUS CLUB

The Columbus Wesleyan Club, with Mae (Eason) Hall as president and Marjorie (Potts) Durden as program chairman had a delightful meeting and tea for high school seniors at the beautiful new home of Sue Marie (Thompson) Turner in Columbus.

Going to the meeting from Wesleyan were Eunice Thomson, Alumnae Director, Evelyn (Thaxton) Thrasher, wife of the Director of the Wesleyan Foundation, and two students from the conservatory, Rebecca Dodd, violinist, and Ida Few Bibbie, her accompanist.

After a brief talk about Wesleyan of today by the Alumnae Director, and a musical program which won the applause of the entire group (the piano, sent especially for the occasion, was from the Humes Music Company, owned by Ina (Dudley) Humes' husband and his family), alumnae and high school girls enjoyed a social hour, and wandered over the lovely new home.

After the meeting, the group from Macon enjoyed having dinner at the Country Club with Marjorie (Potts) Durden and Martha (Zachry) Thwaite.

CLASS NOTES

Have you wondered how we get the class notes for the magazine, and perhaps why there are not more notes from your class?

Here are our sources:

1. Newspapers. We subscribe to both Macon and Atlanta papers, and read them for news of alumnae. We also pay for clippings from other newspapers through the "Southern Press Clippings Bureau."

2. Class Secretaries. Each senior class president becomes, on graduation, the "Secretary" of her class, and we ask these alumnae to send us news of classmates. Many classes have "Class Captains" whose duty is to keep up with a smaller group of classmates and send news of them to the office.

3. Geographical lists. As we have time, we send out from the Alumnae Office lists of alumnae in various towns to some alumna living in the town, asking for news. Last summer we sent out 326 such lists, and many of the news notes in the November, February, and current magazines were sent to us by these alumnae.

4. Students and faculty. Quite often students bring to the office news of their alumna relatives or friends, or of alumnae living in their community. Faculty members pass on the news they hear of alumnae.

5. Daily correspondence. Every letter that comes in to the office is carefully read for news of the alumna writing and of every other Wesleyan girl she mentions. This is probably the best source of news for your magazine editor.

Even so, however, we overlook some newspaper item, or somebody forgets to tell us some bit of news, or—shame on you!—you do not take time to write us what you know. How can we have more news of your class if nobody in your class tells us? Won't you do your part?

1884

The class of 1884 will be grieved to learn of the death on February 6 in Macon of Martha Lou Hatcher after a brief illness. She was one of Wesleyan's most loyal alumnae, and was at one time a teacher of French and Latin at the college. She is survived by a sister, Lucile (Hatcher) Shaw, '04, of Wilmington, Delaware, one brother, S. W. Hatcher, Jr., of Macon, and several nieces and nephews.

1885

On Valentine's Day a charming picture of the Edmund F. Cooks (she was Annie Cargill), with a story about them appeared in The Atlanta Journal. For it was not only Valentine's day, but their 57th wedding anniversary! The delightful story was by Lois (Bennett) Davis, former student of journalism at Wesleyan under Miss Virginia Garner, and former assistant editor of the Alumnae Magazine.

Electra Weekes now makes her home with her niece, Mrs. John H. Hopkins, and they spent their winters at Palm Beach, Florida. Her niece writes of her: "We had a party recently in honor of her birthday. She is remarkable, very alert mentally and physically, and interested in all current events."

1886

Blanche (Hall) Neel has a new great-granddaughter, Blanche Neel Redding, the daughter of her granddaughter. The baby is the fourth Blanche Neel in the family.

1887

Sympathy is extended to Annie (Anderson) McKay in the death of her husband, John J. McKay, March 17.

1887

All of Macon will miss Sallie Boone, librarian emeritus of Mercer University, who died at her home in Macon after a long illness. Her infectious laugh, accompanied by her characteristic "Hello-o-o!" was a well-known greeting in the city. She was librarian at Price Library in Macon shortly after her graduation from Wesleyan, and from there she went to Mercer, where she was teacher, then librarian, counsellor of co-eds until her health forced her retirement. She was a life-long member of the First Presbyterian Church, where the senior women's class was named in her honor. She was an ardent member of Phi Mu. Her survivors include a number of cousins, among them Gertrude (Smith) Trawick, Cons. '35.

1888

Nan (Carmichael) Beeland and her husband celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary on March 19. In celebration their son, C. D. Beeland, Jr., and his wife gave them a family dinner party and a large television.

Mamie (Haygood) Ardis has not been well recently, but is still able to attend church and enjoy her music.

The class of '88 will be grieved to learn of the death on March 7 of Ida (Lowrey) Stone of Blakely. She was taken to Ox ford to rest beside her husband. She was at one time the very efficient secretary of the class of '88, and was always a loyal alumna of Wesleyan.

We are delighted to know that Louise (Morse) Riddle is well again after a serious illness. Louise was born in Massachusetts, but her family moved to Macon in 1880 where her father was superintendent of Bibb Mills. She received scholarships to Wesleyan, and was awarded the A.B. and M.B. degrees. After her marriage to J. P. Riddle she moved to Davisboro where she took an active part in educational and religious affairs, teaching music for many years, and serving 14 years as postmistress under an appointment by President Woodrow Wilson. In 1938 she moved to Chattanooga Tenn., where she celebrated her 81st birthday in January. She is a member of the First Baptist Church, the Shahan Sunday School Class, and the W.M.U.

1890

Addie (Smith) Munro was honored on her 79th birthday in Ellaville by her many friends, including the members of the W.S.C.

1891

Louise (Grace) Marshall lives in Jacksonville, Fla. In November, 1942, the youngest of her four sons was lost at Oran. He was a graduate of West Point, a Lt. Col., and left a wife and two boys. Two of Louise's sons live in Jacksonville, the other in New York State.

Sympathy is extended to Lola (Johnson) Haskins in the death of her husband.

1893

Kathleen (Ayer) Hatcher died in Macon in March after an illness of several years. She was a member of the First Baptist Church, of the D.A.R., the Macon History Club, and the Morning Music Club. She is survived by four sons, Ayer Hatcher of Waynesboro, George E., Jr., and Dr. Milford B. Hatcher of Macon, and Hal B. Hatcher of Forsyth, and by three grandchildren. The portrait of Catherine (Brewer) Benson which hangs in the Alumnae office is the work of Kathleen (Ayer) Hatcher.

Sympathy is extended to Mabel (Hicks) Warthen in the death of her brother, Judge James B. Hicks in March. He was an uncle of Nannie Claire (Hicks) Lord, '33.

Sympathy is extended to Lula (McPherson) Steed in the death of her husband in February.

1895

Word has reached the Alumnae Office of the death of Nell (Getzen) Briggs on February 13, 1947. She was an invalid for several years, but was a faithful consecrated worker in the church as long as she was able to attend.

1900

Mr. Henry Jackson Peavy, who died at his home in Byron, Ga., February 23, was the father of Sadie (Peavy) Warren of the Class of 1900, and of Bertha (Peavy) Vinson, 1901.

1901

Edna (Arnold) Copeland of Elberton is the author of "Nancy Hart, the War Woman," a copy of which she recently presented to the Wesleyan library.

1902

Nell (Knight) Cleghorn and her family live in State College, New Mexico. She has twin granddaughters, Sally and Sue.

1903

Mary (Hill) Brown's son, Brian S. Brown, Jr., is marrying a Wesleyan girl, Nan Stanley, '50, this spring. The groom is in charge of alumni affairs at Georgia Tech, of which he is a graduate.

1906

Ruth (Parker) Burns, granddaughter of the late Professor Joseph T. Derry, daughter of the late Susie (Derry) Parker, A.B. '83, died in Macon in March. Sympathy is extended to her husband, Henry K. Burns, who is one of the members of the Wesleyan Foundation, and to her three daughters and three sons, and to her brother and sister, Gladys (Parker) McCoy, M.B. '03.

1908

Sympathy is extended to Mary (Westbrook) Kline in the death of her husband, George R. Kline, in Lake City, Fla., in January.

1909

One of Albany's oldest citizens, C. H. Cross, died in February. He was the father of four Wesleyan alumnae: Charlie Mae (Cross) Barnes, '09; Bernice (Cross) Wilson, '21; Annie Lee (Cross) Grimes, '21; and Halcia (Cross) McGirt, '33. His granddaughter, Dorothy Jane Wilson, received the B.F.A. in 1946, and his grandson, Thad Grimes, is a student at the Conservatory now.

Sympathy is extended to Elma (Grace) Newton in the death of her mother, Fannie (Blalock) Grace, 1882, in February.

1910

Sympathy is extended to Frances (Graham) Goffe in the death of her mother in March.

1912

Sympathy is extended to Ruth (Arnold) Carter in the death of her brother, Robert M. Arnold, attorney and former president of the Columbus Board of Education, in February.

Sympathy is extended to Lillian Battle in the death of her mother in January.

Sympathy is extended to Myrna (Humphreys) Write in the death of her father in January.

1913

Sympathy is extended to Cornelia (Adams) Heath in the death of her husband, H. Persons Heath of Washington, D. C., and to their Wesleyan alumnae daughter, Eva (Heath) Sullivan, '47, and sister, Emily (Heath) McDaniel, '16.

In January Martha (Riley) Holliday's husband, Judge Peter O. Holiday, died after a long illness during which Martha was his nurse and constant companion. In March her first grandchild was born, Peter O. Holiday III, the son of her son, "Pete" and his wife.

1914

Nelia (Damour) Watt's son's engagement to a Wesleyan Conservatory senior, Diana Roberts, is announced in "Weddings." The groom-to-be is a grandson of Laura (Jones) Damour, A.B. '82, of Macon.

1915

Sympathy is extended to Leuna (Baskin) Wood in the death of her mother on March 13.

Constance (Horne) Norvell lives in Abilene, Texas, and a recent clipping from the Abilene newspaper tells of a performance of the Abilene Symphony Orchestra in which Constance, her son, Celeste, and her son-in-law, Bob Lewis, all played. Constance and Celeste are violinists (the former having studied with Arthur Hartman, the composer, of New York after leaving Wesleyan), and Bob plays the trumpet. Constance has reared five children, and has two grandchildren. With her busy life, she has kept her interest in music, and inspired her children to love music and study it.

1916

Sympathy is extended to Nona (Jennings) Semple in the death of her mother, February 25.

1917

Alice (Gardiner) Stickley of Jackson, Tenn., has a new grandson, Harry Porter Stickley IV.

Laura (Lyle) Sutton of Washington, Ga., was most active in plans for the Wesleyan Glee Club there. Lucy (Evans) Stephens, '98, wrote with enthusiasm of the performance, regretting that her hip which is "knitting" after a fall, kept her from active participation.

Jessie (Moss) Worley makes her home in Chattanooga, Tenn., where her husband is district superintendent of the Methodist Church.

1918

Maurine (Gostin) Mielenz's son, Lt. Lloyd E. Mielenz, Jr., brother of Mau-riene (Mielenz) Pendleton, '46, was wounded on November 28 in Korea, and flown home to Walter Reed Hospital recently. On leave in Macon, he gave a newspaper reporter an account of his terrible experiences on the battle front. He is a brother of Maurine (Mielenz) Pendleton, '46.

Sympathy is extended to Merlyn (Hiley) Davis and to Beth (Hiley) Hall, 1918, in the death of their father, Roland A. Hiley of Ft. Valley in January.

Nyok Mei (Pan) Chen has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law in Washington, D. C., recently. Her husband died about three years ago, at the peak of his career.

1919

Clara (Carter) Acree's son, Maurice, Jr., was married February 2 to Barbara Berry of Macon.

Martha Kelley sends greetings to her class at reunion, but cannot be with them, for she never leaves her invalid sister, Ruth, A.B. '24.

Sympathy is extended to Annie Vance Watters and to Miriam (Watters) Rush, '20, in the death of their father in March.

1920

Sue Ellen (Morton) Boyette's son, Morton, is quite a basketball star. Although only 15 he is doing fine scoring, 183 points as center the present year. He is six feet tall and weighs 165. Sue Ellen's older son is a sergeant in the Air Force Communications. Her husband has been in the Veterans' Hospital in Dublin since Thanksgiving, and Billy has been home twice to see him. Despite her duties as a teacher in the high school, and as a homemaker, Sue Ellen found time to write to ten of her classmates as a Fund Agent for the Loyalty Fund.

Ida (Shelnutt) Wyly will have to miss her class reunion because she and her husband are going to take a trip to the Island of Tortola, one of the Virgin Islands, where his great-great-grandfather lived before coming to Georgia from England. They will sail from New Orleans to Puerto Rico, where Ida taught years ago, and will come back by Houston, Texas, to visit her husband's son, Billy, and his wife and baby.

1921

Sympathy is extended to Florence Askew, Sarah (Askew) Brannon, '24, and Jean (Askew) Powers, '27, in the death of their mother in Newnan, March 12.

Elizabeth (Clanton) Gainey writes that she will be unable to come to the class reunion because her daughter is graduating from high school.

Margaret (Jones) Roddenbery says that she has to pinch herself to realize that five grown children are hers: Julien, Jr., '27; Ralph, '25; Rebecca, '21; Albert, '18; Martha, '16. She has one grandchild, Rebecca, Julien Jr.'s little daughter, not quite two years old.

Alice (McNair) Hopkins' son, Fred Hampton, graduates from U. S. Military Academy this commencement.

When the Glee Club from Wesleyan went to Knoxville, Louise (Withington) Fox was one of the alumnae most enthusiastic and helpful in planning for the girls.

1922

Bruce (Cleckler) Flanders received very high rating as a teacher in the Sebring, Florida public school by a state evaluating body recently, according to reports that came to Wesleyan from members of the college faculty who were in Florida at the time.

Helen (McKinney) Clark writes that she has become a "brand new grandmother."

1923

Genevieve (Broome) Jones and her husband have bought a historic old house in Waverly Hall, Georgia, after 25 years of living amid the bustle of New York City suburb, Bogota, N. J., where Mr. Jones was a high school history teacher. The house, built about the time that Wesleyan was chartered, was a wayside inn, called "Waverly Hall" by a local resident who was fond of Scott's novels. The name eventually labeled the entire community. The Joneses have been having a wonderful time fixing up the interesting old house with its quaint, old-fashioned atmosphere. An article in a recent Columbus paper told of their plans and carried pictures of the house and its new owners. One reason they wanted to own such a house, says Genevieve, was so they would have a place to entertain their daughter, Frances (Jones) Duskin, A.B. '41 and her husband of Columbus, and their family of three children.

Mary (Cozart) Burns' husband is now in Japan, having served in Korea. Mary hopes to join him there in the summer.

Ruth (Daniel) Harper was the tireless and efficient alumna-in-charge-of-arrangements when the Wesleyan Glee Club went to Greenville, S. C., in the spring, and her classmate, Winifred Rogers, teaching in the schools there, worked with her on the plans.

In February the Rev. T. B. Stanford, beloved minister of the Methodist Church for many years, died. All of his five daughters came to Wesleyan: Viola (Stanford) Strozier, '23; Olice (Stanford) Gunnells, '24; Janet (Stanford) Jaudon, '25; Mary Stanford, '27; and Louise (Stanford) Cater, '31.

Sympathy is extended to Pearl (Woodruff) Langley of Thomasville in the death of her sister, Mrs. Martha Beulah Lowery of Unadilla in March.

1924

Marie (Boyette) Malone visited her daughter, Jean, a freshman at Wesleyan, in February.

Miriam (Fletcher) Haddock received the distressing news in February that her son, Lt. John H. Haddock, Jr., was missing in action in Korea after guarding one of his wounded men during an onslaught of Communist troops.

Elizabeth Malone, head librarian in Jonesboro, Arkansas, is delighted to be in a new library building in that city, a project on which she and others in Jonesboro have spent much time and effort. Sallie Rogers, Wesleyan freshman from Jonesboro (friend of Elizabeth's, who chose Wesleyan because of Elizabeth's enthusiasm for it) brought to the Alumnae Office a picture of the staff at their desks in the new building.

Mary Thomas Maxwell, now of the G.S.C.W. faculty, was guest speaker at the Wesleyan library in February on the poetry of T. S. Eliot.

1925

If you think that when one celebrates the 25th anniversary of her graduation she is settled for life, as it were, you were never more mistaken! At Commencement last year when the class of 1925 met for its Silver Anniversary Reunion one member (Autrey Lewis) was practically a bride. And since that reunion two members of the class who were at Wesleyan then have married! (See "Weddings" for news of these who were Stella (Johnson) Ambrose and Robertine (Belcher) Carmichael. Hail, freshmen!

Frances (Peabody) McKay's daughter, Anne, made an all "A" record at the Conservatory the first semester of this, her senior year.

Estelle Stith has been teaching in Miami since November of 1925, and has been a member of the White Temple Methodist Choir since 1928, being soprano soloist for many years. She has a home in Miami with her mother and a sister.

Sara Wilkerson and a friend, Lena Simmons, run the Colonial Pine Hotel just outside of Raleigh, N. C. Visitors to Wesleyan report that it is a delightful place, and the service is excellent!

Ruth R. Daniels of Alexandria, Va., left in February for San Francisco, Calif., en route for Japan in response to an appeal from General Douglas McArthur for missionaries to that country. She will join the faculty of Oberlin College in Tokyo, where her sister (whom she has not seen for 16 years) is also to be a teacher. Ruth studied at Cleveland Bible College after leaving Wesleyan, and has taught Bible in the public schools of Fairfax County in Virginia and served as home missionary in the mountain districts of Kentucky. In Japan she will represent the International Christian Leadership Association with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

1927

Ouida (McCullough) Franklin of Baltimore, Md., has a son at Washington and Lee University and a daughter at Bryn Mawr.

1928

Ruth (Kasey) Yost of Hopkinsville, Ky., writes that she is very happy over having her daughter, Ritchey, at Wesleyan as a freshman—and Ritchey loves her mother's Alma Mater!

Sympathy is extended to Mary Lou (Reynolds) Arnold in the death of her mother, who was making her home with Mary Lou, on December 24.

Sympathy is extended to Helen (Grenade) Long of Milledgeville in the death of her husband in February, and to her daughter, Helen, who is a student at Wesleyan Conservatory. Helen Long was one of two Conservatory students to make all "A" record during the first semester of this year.

"Tommy" (Thompson) Camp, with her boundless enthusiasm and organizing ability, Elizabeth (Anderson) Belcher and Grace (Teasley) Sandlin, both of the class of '31 and both always on their toes to do what they can for Wesleyan, put across the plans for the Wesleyan Glee Club appearance in Anderson, S. C.

1930

Helen (Kilpatrick) Lyon was invited to read her prize-winning paper, "Richard Peters, Atlanta Pioneer, Georgia Builder" at a recent meeting of the Atlanta Historical Society.

1931

Margaret (Boyd) Whitnel, who helped with the Glee Club plans in Greenville, writes of her enjoyment of the two girls who stayed with her. "One was Felicia Lee, a lovely Chinese girl, who made me think of the time I was at Wesleyan and my friendship with Ling Yi Vee."

Sympathy is extended to Carolyn (Channell) Webb of Plains in the death of her mother in January.

Margaret Hatcher has succeeded Dorothea (Jarratt) Goodlow, A.B. '45, as librarian at Wesleyan Conservatory, transferring from the catalog and order department of the Candler Memorial Library on the Rivoli campus. Assistant in the library at Rivoli for this spring is Margaret Gaillard, A.B. '39.

Alice (Warren) Smith is moving to Richmond, Virginia in July, her husband having been given a promotion in his work. They have sold their home in Atlanta, bought only about a year and a half ago, and Alice says she hates to leave her life-time friends in Atlanta, but feels sure she will like Richmond. Their only child, Laura, will start to school in the fall.

1933

Sympathy is extended to Dorothy (Lombard) Singletary in the death of her father in Atlanta in January.

Dimple (Mabry) Hayhurst's husband was recalled to the service and assigned as an R.O.T.C. instructor at Tempe College near Phoenix, Arizona. They have one son, Douglas Samuel, aged 3½ and a student at Phoenix College Nursery School, where Dimple is taking a course in child development.

1934

Louise (Kilpatrick) Zattau and her husband, Dr. Charles Zattau of Milledgeville, adopted a little son, Bill. He was a year old last fall when he came to live with them.

1935

Eleanor (Anthony) Solomon has a son, William Cornell, born February 13.

1936

Amy (Cleckler) Louttit's husband, the Rt. Rev. Henry J. Louttit, became bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of South Florida at impressive rites at St. Luke's Cathedral in Orlando in January. The Miami Herald carried a picture of him in his cape woven of pure gold thread as he received the crozier from retiring Bishop John D. Wing.

1937

Anne (Edge) Jacobs of Baltimore has a son three years old, and two daughters aged two and one.

Margaret (Evans) Knox and Ruth (Hall) Knox '40, lent their hearty support to the Wesleyan Glee Club in Thomson, Ga.

Sarah Hammons edits the magazine "Pine Chips," published by and for the employees of the Brunswick Pulp and Paper Company.

Sympathy is extended to Marinelle (Montgomery) Barker in the death of her father in March.

1938

Virginia (Batchelder) Brigham has been teaching piano and voice in Vero Beach, Fla., for six years. She and her husband are counsellors to the senior MYE, and Virginia is secretary of the WSCS and sings in the choir. In her spare time (if any) she does some tutoring of tourists' children. Her husband is District Supervisor of Federal-State Citrus Inspectors.

Ola (Exley) Mullino writes from Norman, Oklahoma, that she would love to come to reunion, but her annual trip to Georgia is at Christmas time.

Hanson (Hayes) Higginbotham regrets that 3,000 miles is too far to come (from Pasadena, California) for the class reunion!

Marjorie (Hillman) Yeomans has a daughter, born February 27.

Edith (Hoeflich) Luke writes from Ft. Pierce, Fla., that two small children will keep her from coming to Wesleyan for reunion.

Frances (Houser) Whisler writes: "Heigh-ho from a Montana log cabin where I am at present and loving it. If I had Alladin's lamp or a magic carpet, you may be sure I would be there."

Katherine (Hurst) Anderson of Nashville, Tenn., says that Edwin, Jr., 9; Kate, 8; and Patricia, 2½ keep her close at home. Her husband is in the English department at Peabody College.

Azile (Parker) Alston and her husband have a new florist shop, Rosser Alston, Inc., in Atlanta, and invite their friends to visit them. The opening show was held at the Atlanta Woman's Club, with a display of Christmas decorations, and they have had other interesting shows at the shop. Their sons are Sam and Walter ages 2 and 4 years.

Albert (Wolf) Colbert writes that her husband was recently called back to active duty with the Army Air Corps, and is now serving in the Legislative and Liaison office of the Air Force in the Pentagon Building in Washington.

1939

Eugenia (Anderson) Ramsey's husband, Bernard, has been appointed manager of the Newark, N. J., office of the stock brokerage firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane.

Irene (Batchelder) Fuller (Mrs. E. H.) lives at 32 Benjamin Ave., Amityville, L. I., N. Y., where her husband is with the New York Port Authority, Airport Division. They have a six-year-old daughter. Irene had polio two years ago, and was left with arthritis of the spine as a result. She is able to walk, however, and was not otherwise affected.

Anne (Bethune) Sears and her family live in Saginaw, Michigan, where Dr. Sears is chief surgeon at the Veterans Hospital, and Anne is active in the church and is an officer in the Missionary Society, P.T.-A., and Pan-Hellenic. They have a handsome son three years old.

Bascom (Knight) Zewadski's daughter, Edith Brown, was born January 18.

For The Historical Collection

There came to Wesleyan recently from Lucile Cary Lowry of Dallas, Texas, a copy of a clipping which she found in a scrapbook which belonged to her grandfather, Dr. Norborne Berkeley Powell, who was a member of the Senate of Georgia in 1836 when Wesleyan was chartered. Dr. Powell was influential in getting the charter, and his interest in Wesleyan continued, for the clipping from his scrapbook was a statement of the financial status of the college several years after its opening. It is signed by J. E. Evans, a Trustee, and says: "It will no doubt be a gratification to the friends of the institution to learn that the college premises are now paid for and the title for the property made to the Trustees."

Elizabeth (Solomon) Smith, '11, sent for the historical collection an embroidered Spanish shawl of the type which was so popular in the 1920's.

Eloise (Cooper) Cannon, A.B. '14, sent copies of "The Wesleyan," student literary magazine, for October 1911, November 1912, March, April, November, and December 1913, and January, February, March, April, and May, 1914. (Since these arrived we have learned that Eloise is seriously ill.)
